Art

Read through the Art PowerPoint and look at how drawings were made for scientific research and studies. Remember that before the days of Smart Phones and digital cameras, people would sometimes draw detailed pictures to show how something looked.

Your task is to choose one of the creatures below or one of your own, and draw it carefully as though you were a biologist who has just discovered a new species. You must remember that no one has yet seen your discovery so make your sketch as detailed as possible. Label your drawing to show each part of the creature and what its function is.
