

Habitat Matching

A habitat is where an animal lives. A habitat is really important because it is a place where animals can stay safe. Different animals are suited to different habitats. For example, do you think a tiger would live in the snow?

Have a go at matching the animals with the correct habitat.

Challenge! How do you know that it is the correct habitat for that animal? How is the animal adapted to live there? You may want to use books or the internet to find this out. Remember to do this with an adult.

Ducks have waterproof feathers and webbed feet to help them swim in the river.
